1) Read out the questions in order from 1 to 36. Teams write their answers in any square on the right of their answer sheet and the accompanying number in the top left hand corner of the same square.

They should also write the answer to the question on the left-hand side against the corresponding number and also write the number they used in the same position in the bottom left.

2) After a short break, you collect the left-hand side of the team's answer sheet then you begin reading out the answers in the order given on the quiz answer sheet.

First read the number, then the question followed by the answer, then the number again.

3) If incorrect or unanswered, teams cross through the answer and are not able to use that square.

4) The winning team is one who has 6 in a line horizontally, diagonally or vertically

5) After a 'house' call, check the duplicate copy. If correct, they win, if incorrect, continue playing.

6) In the event of a tie or if no team wins when all answers have been read out, use the tiebreak question.

7) After a winning claim, remember to read out the answer to all remaining questions. You may also want to give a small prize to the player or who team who has most correct answers overall.

The quiz master will call out questions from 1 to 36 – write the number of the question in any small circle and the answer to it in the same square then copy the answer against the correct number above left. Also write the numbers you use in the corresponding squares bottom left. Once all questions have been read out, tear off the left hand side and hand to the quizmaster. They will now read out the answers in a random order – you need to get a straight line of six correct answers – once you have them shout "HOUSE" and the quizmaster will check your sheet – Good Luck – anyone seen with a mobile phone will have it smashed to pieces with a hammer and will be disqualified!
